

Hall County Escapee James Edward Cantrell Now In Custody

July 22, 2013

On July 22nd, James Edward Cantrell was apprehended by officers assigned to the Southeast Regional Fugitive Task Force. James Cantrell had been able to elude capture since he absconded from outside of the Hall County Courthouse on Tuesday (July 16, 2013).

At that time, 46 year-old James Edward Cantrell was among a group of inmates being escorted from the courthouse back to the Hall County Jail after court proceedings.

Since, Officers have been following up on multiple leads. One such tip came into the Hall County Sheriff's Office indicating that Cantrell was spotted in the area of a motel in Tucker, GA. Officers with the Southeast Regional Fugitive Task Force were able to determine that Cantrell was checked in to a room there using a false name. While conducting surveillance, officers spotted Cantrell walking near the motel lobby. He was placed into custody without further incident. Cantrell was subsequently transported back to Hall County, and is currently in the Hall County Jail. There is no further information available, pending the results of the ongoing investigation.
