

Former Hall County Schools Employee Arrested

March 6, 2013

On March 5, 2013 just after 7:00 PM, a retired Hall County Schools employee surrendered himself at the Hall County Jail in relation to a theft case.

In late February, school system officials notified Sheriff's investigators that an internal audit had uncovered a series of discrepancies in maintenance and repair invoices. That audit pointed toward the likelihood of wrongdoing by a 31 year employee who had retired from the school system on February 1st.

During the course of the investigation, it was determined that from February to December of 2012, an electrician for the school system, 48 year-old Ricky Donald Loggins, of Maysville, manipulated repair and maintenance contract paperwork, enabling him to obtain excess electrical equipment and supplies. Loggins then privately sold those materials and is suspected of pocketing more than $55,000. As a result, Investigators obtained a warrant for his arrest.

Mr. Loggins was booked into the Hall County Jail, charged with Theft by Conversion (felony). He is currently free on $5,000 bond.

This case remains under investigation by the Hall County Sheriff's Office, Criminal Investigations Division. Please direct any questions pertaining to Mr. Loggins' employment/retirement status or work history to the Hall County School System.
