

Early Voting Enters Final Day

November 2, 2012

Hall County Elections officials entered their final day of early voting Friday, nearing the end of a busy early voting period.

Hall County Elections Director Charlotte Sosebee said 1,936 voters were processed Thursday, the highest daily total so far. She said Thursday's longest wait time was 40 minutes, which is still well under the average wait time for voters at a number of other counties.

The total number of early and advance voters for this election as of closing Thursday was 21,536. That number will continue to climb until the election office closes its doors at 5 p.m. Friday.

Polls will reopen at 7 a.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 6.
